

Cycling for fun and health

Bicycle project:

Here is your chance to cycle for fun and health

UN-Habitat through Uganda Sustainable Transport Network brings you a chance to cycle for health or fun.

All this is absolutely free. The bicycles are located at the CEDAT parking lot. All you need is your Identity card. You can take the bicycle for a maximum of one hour.

This project will enable our students and staff exercise and have "new and great ideas" by reducing on inactivity levels. It will also provide safe and organized parking for those that already have bikes.

This is a pilot project and something new in the country. Makerere University is the first in East Africa to house such a project. There are several such projects in Spain, France, Britain, USA, and in Africa, some have been spotted in South Africa.

Health Benefits of Cycling

- Cycling is one of the easiest ways to exercise
